

Patient Portal Opens Voting to the Public!

This Saturday we opened voting to the public, giving the people a chance to select the designs they like best for the Patient Portal for New Yorkers. The Patient Portal will be a highly secure website allowing New Yorkers to log in to access their own medical records, with the same ease and efficiency with which they have accessed their financial transactions for years. Read more.

2013

Beyond EHRs
INFORMATION
EXCHANGE and
YOUR PRACTICE

The 2013 Summit Series is underway, with the Syracuse and Binghamton summits this week. Six summits across the state are still to come.

Leadership from the NYS DOH, NYeC, and your Regional Health Information Organization (RHIO) will answer questions about your local RHIO services, and how health information exchange can impact your organization and its patients. Find the location nearest to you and register today.

"To (2)" Factor Authentication — or Not!

Posted by: Sudipto Srivastava on April 09, 2013

My heart goes out to those tiny electrons! Those tiny chaps have a tough living in the digital age, with all the racing around through cyberspace—and we are trying to make their lives tougher! On the SHIN-NY, billions will be traveling from one end of the state to another carrying patient data with them. So, in spite of our love for the electrons, the one thing we are trying to make sure is that the data that they carry on their shoulders travels within the boundaries of trust. Read more

The Coming Mobile Health Startup Revolution

Posted by: John Lynn on April 02, 2013

Guest blog by John Lynn: I've often heard entrepreneurs call healthcare one of the final frontiers to really benefit from the advancement of technology. I believe this is true, in many ways. But healthcare is poised to enter a new phase when it comes to technology. Read more
